

INDIANA YOUTH SOCCER
Minimum Coaching Standards
 Revised June 19th, 2007

On June 1st, 2007 Indiana Youth Soccer's Board of Directors amended the minimum coaching standards. The only level that needs a minimum are those who coach a travel/select team(s). The minimum coaching standards for recreation and recreation-plus coaches has been suspended. Even though the minimum standards have been suspended for the recreation and recreation-plus coaches there is no substitute for an educated coach. All recreation and recreation-plus coaches are encouraged to continue their growth and should take full advantage of FREE coaching education that Indiana Youth Soccer provides. Note: The minimum coaching standards for clubs that have a director of coaching has not been revised or suspended.

The table below is what will be a minimum for all (head and assistant) coaches. It is recommended though that each coach attempts to exceed these minimum standards.

The purposes for requiring coaches of all ages to become educated are many. Here are some of the reasons or rationale as to why it is important for coaches of all ages is needed to create a better playing environment.

- To increase your effectiveness as a volunteer or paid coach by enhancing your knowledge of fundamental coaching concepts such as:
 - Philosophy of coaching
 - Age appropriate training of children
 - Prevention of injuries
 - Care of injuries
 - Team management
 - Risk management issues
- To protect you from civil lawsuits. If you are ever sued for an injury to one of your athletes (although rare), you can present a much better legal defense as a result of being educated and trained.
- To increase your knowledge on how to properly teach technique and tactics.
- To ease the worry of volunteer coaches who have never played or have limited experience in the game.
- To arm the coaches with activities (not drills) that will provide for a safe and fun learning environment.
- “There’s no substitute for an educated coach”

To end, ask yourself the question “What are your expectations of your child’s coach?”

Deferment

Any coach who can not meet the licensing requirement is required to apply for a deferment. A deferment is an approval to coach until the licensing requirement can be satisfied. A deferment is granted for one year only. All requests for a deferment must be submitted to the INDIANA YOUTH SOCCER Director of Coaching as part of the team registration process. A potential coach would complete a deferment request. The Club Coach (or their designee) would review essential information (including, but not limited to, sportsmanship, risk management and age- appropriate concerns) deemed essential by the Club with the candidate coach and sign the deferment request prior to the coach commencing with the players. The club would then submit the deferment request to Indiana Youth Soccer within seven (7) days of the candidate coach having his/her first session with players. Indiana Youth Soccer would formally respond to the deferment request within thirty (30) days of receipt. However, If no response is received within seven (7) days the deferment is considered approved for one year.

Waiting Period

There is no waiting period between the Youth Module 1, Youth Module 2, F/Youth Technical Certificate, and E certificates. It is recommended that you apply what you have learned in your coaching education experience to the age group that you are coaching for at least one season.

There is a 6 month waiting period for those who have obtained an E Certificate and desire to pursue a D License. The waiting period is so coaches have a better opportunity to apply what they have learned.

There is a one year waiting period for those who have obtained a National D License and desire to pursue a C License. The waiting period is enforced by the USSF.

License Conversion

A coach who has completed the equivalent to the minimum coaching standard from a foreign country can request to have their license converted over to a Youth Module 1, Youth Module 2, or USSF E Certificate.
